FRIDAY, AUGUST 25 1911.

Clark, Wilson, Harmon,—which?

Congress has adjourned. We wonder how the republicans feel about the work done. Doubtless they feel undone.

With the passage of the tariff revision bills and the bill admitting New Mexico and Arizona as states into the union,—not to mention others—the democratic party is moving into the confidence of the masses of the people.

The great question now is who will get the democratic nomination for President; not who will be the next President, because the answer to the first question settles both.

Just suppose South Carolina was putting the money and labor that is now being used on the state farms upon the public highways of the State, what would be the result? One thing is certain, the roads would be better; and it is a certainty that where there are good schools and good roads there is also prosperity and progress.

The Confederate Veterans are meeting in Columbia this week. Doubtless this will be the last reunion that a number of them will ever attend. In the course of human events it will not be many years at best before there will be but a few, very few, of the survivors of the conflict between the states, but while they live they have the consolation that their deeds of heroism and unselfish sacrifices will live in the history and will be cherished by their descendants as a priceless heritage.

When one pays $1.50 or $2.00 per month for telephone service he feels as if he is entitled to the service paid for, and that he should not be made to suffer because the telephone company may be in a contest with its employees about the amount of wages to be paid. Especially is this true when they undertake to force operators to give their time and service for the pitance of $20.00, or possibly $25.00, per month. When by reason of such a niggardly policy the subscribers are denied service, to say the least of it, they should not be compelled to pay full price. In other words the telephone company has no right to fight their employees upon money furnished by their subscribers.

Don't let all the sunshine in nature become cloudy since you are growing older.

The strength of a nation is in the intelligent and well-ordered homes of the people.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of it for another.

How much of your success do you owe to your wife? It is only just to own this fact before her day by day. It will make her happy and keep her youthful.

The past is fixed. No tears can wash away its facts. We should waste no regrets upon it; but, from the wisdom of its very sins have taught us, we should start afresh on the race.

He is a selfish being who having trouble in his trade or calling you may be separated from all or profession, always brings his trouble home for the purpose of making everyone else miserable.

Unkind words do as much harm as unkind deeds. Many a heart has been wounded beyond cure, many a reputation has been stabbed to death, by a few little words.

In a world where God lets the sun shine, the birds sing and the flowers make happy love to each other, man should not be the only saddened object.

Let the path of life start whence it may, and let the way be steep and thorny if it must, there are sunny fields far up the heights for those who have faith and resolution to climb them.

One can never tell what a man amounts to while he is under restraint, whether the restraint be of environment, lack of means or anything else. Only when the man is freed and with full ability to choose and act does his true character and the extent of his resources reveal themselves.

Let the conversation at the table always be bright and cheerful. And just here, let us say, cultivate an excellent deportment at the table always, for however polished you may be, if your table manners are neglected they will surely betray you. Let each member of the household do all in his or her power to make home the happiest place on earth.

The truest and most respected of all neighbors, is the one who always speaks well of everybody, who devotes the largest share of her sympathies to her own affairs, is chary of administering unsolicited advice, and who always waits until her social and useful capacities are requested, and never renders herself officious even in her most sanguine efforts at proving to be a good neighbor.

There are men defeated in life because they have at home an unsympathetic or ungenerous wife. And many a man has passed safely through a financial crisis because he knew that at home was a cheerful, sympathetic woman who was thinking of him all the day long, and would be ready and willing, if worse came to worse, to give up her handsome house, take a room in a back street, and play the "Song of the Shirt" on a sewing machine.

The very general and unfavorable comments made upon the approaching marriage of two prominent members of New York and Newport smart society are significant as showing the high regard most people have for the sanctity of marriage and home life. Ordinarily it is nobody's business except those immediately concerned when two people join their lives. But when the circumstances are notorious and offensive to public sentiment it is a different matter.

Even in America one occasionally comes across a man who regards woman as an inferior animal and a sort of a beast of burden. Such was the man in Missouri who harassed his wife to his team, and the man in Wisconsin who brutally beat his wife to make her love him. But these are but sporadic cases. Old world and dark age ideas as to the nature and position of woman have no place in America social and domestic life. The lamentable instances referred to but serve to emphasize this truth.

With the exercise of much patience, the model parent will gain the love and obedience of the child without harshness, or what someone has designated "physical persuasion" and instead of trying to beat goodness into children will make their natural tendencies and possibilities the subject of earnest study; then by kindness and gentleness, so train these as to secure a harmonious development physical, mental and moral, the normal activities will be directed into laudable channels and a desire created to do what is required.

Though you may be cut off from your early associates, and though your kindred, young man, is there not a room somewhere that you can call your own? Though it be the fourth story of a third class boarding house, into that room gather books, pictures and a harp. Hang your mother's portrait over the mantle. Bid holy mirth stand back from that threshold. Consecrate some spot in that room with the knee of prayer. By the memory of other days, a father's counsel, a mother's love and a sister's confidence, call it home.

A girl who is brought up to earn her own living never will "just settle down to nothing." She will understand the value of money, having earned it, and can give her husband wise counsel and sympathy in his business difficulties. She can take entire charge of the money expended for the house and do it in such a business-like way that will give her husband infinite satisfaction. She can earn a little something for herself perhaps, and at least she will have the comfort of knowing that whatever happens, she will fall on her feet.

Here are some ways by which men may succeed in life. 1. Have a definite aim and go straight for it. 2. Master all details and always know more than you are expected to know. 3. Do not be daunted by difficulties; they are made to be overcome. 4. Do not be disheartened by failures, but make them stepping stones to further effort. 5. Never put out your hand further than you can draw it back. 6. Use other men's brains as well as your own. 7. Listen well, answer cautiously, decide promptly. 8. Never engage in a questionable or dishonorable transaction.

The passage of the veto bill through the British parliament is a great triumph for democracy. It means the emancipation of the masses from the feudal rule of an irresponsible aristocracy and is the most radical legislative reform since the passing of the Reform Bill of 1832. The victory of the government secures the passage in the near future of several greatly needed measures which hitherto have been blocked by the lords. Among them are the Irish home rule, non-sectarian education, the disestablishment of the church in Wales, and the abolition of plural voting.

The busy man must have some pleasure, some recreation, some relaxation. He ought not to have it on the street with gossiping chatterers, or at the gambling table with the dissolute or wanton. He ought to find it at home. He ought to do something in which his family could have a part. It ought to be pure, elevating, stimulating. The man that is so considerate and equipsed, that will make this matter no secondary affair, but give it the best thought of his life, will make a better man, a moral citizen, more consecrated husband, more loving father. He will find his family ties strengthened, so that as his children grow to manhood and womanhood, no place will be so attractive to them as the fireside at home.

MRS. RAWL ENTERTAINS.

HE MISSED SMALL FORTUNE

Cook Fried a Lot of Oysters in Which Were Found Twenty-eight Pearls.

If the cook in a certain cafe in Eugene, Ore., had been possessed with an eye like an X-ray he might have had quite a little fortune in pearls. While a customer was eating fried oysters in the place the other day he bit into something hard in one of the bivalves. Investigation disclosed the fact that it was a pearl of fair size. Further examination resulted in the discovery of 27 other pearls, ranging in size from the head of a pin to a pea. The heat that they had suffered in cooking had destroyed the luster and rendered them worthless and the discoverer has registered a solemn vow never to eat oysters again any way but raw. When shown the little heap of ruined gems, the cook nearly swooned.

THIRTY YEARS TOGETHER.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Bogus Cloth.

What is paint? Some people think it is a tenth of wool, is bogus cloth. Cloth all wool wears to the limit. Paint at a price between 75 cents and $1.50 is like bogus cloth. The L. & M. Paint is all wool and wears to the limit. There's a reason. Holman-Cullum Hwd. Co.

LOSS OF TIME MEANS LOSS OF PAY.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. B. Bant, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley's Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley's Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. For sale by all druggists.

House of Jones.

Jones painted his house last year. It looks dull, dead, no life to it. Smith painted his house 10 years ago. It looks clean, nice, and don't need repainting, because he used L. & M. Paint, and added three quarts of oil to each gallon. The Oil gave life and preserved it. Besides—adding the Oil reduced its cost 40 cents a gallon less than other paint. Thirty-five years use in N. A. & S. A. Holman-Cullum Hwd. Co.

KILLS THE COUGH. CURES THE LUNGS.

Women!
If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramlin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.
